BUILDING HOMES

Real estate experts tell us that the building activities which are going forward all over the country constitute the greatest building program ever undertaken by any nation, ancient or modern. Last year the amount of new building in the United States totalled five and three-quarters billions. It is freely predicted that the total for 1925 will go over the six billion mark.

There are, of course, several reasons for this. The normal building program received a setback during the World war and, in some sections, we have not entirely caught up. Then the cities of the nation are developing rapidly and this is necessitating building improvements of various kinds. Of course the giant buildings in the centers of the various cities are the most imposing when we figure up the financial totals, but it is even more satisfactory to consider the number of modest homes which are springing up in every town.

People who formerly lived in down town tenement districts are now moving to the suburbs and buying homes. They can do this first because they are making higher wages and second, because the cheap automobile and the bus line have made it possible for them to get down from the outskirts of the city in a hurry. As the automobile and other means of rapid transit develop, the cities and towns continue to expand outward as well as skyward.

This is a healthy sign and is one which makes the development of the automobile worth while. The more homeowners and home-lovers there are in America the less chance for the bolshevik in the land of the free.

EVERY ONE TAKE NOTICE

In 1923, $203,763,550 worth of property was destroyed by fire. In 1923, the figure had mounted to $535,372,782 and the estimate for 1924 places the probable total at a new high point—$45,810,639. This is at the rate of ten million and a half dollars a week which can be represented by a row of ten-thousand dollar residences over four miles in length set on fire and completely destroyed every seven days.

Because of their close contact with the fire loss problem, the insurance companies realize more clearly than does the general public the magnitude of the yearly waste of material wealth and human life.

As underwriters, they view with alarm the resultant ever-increasing loss ratio, approaching 60 percent last year. Cooperation of every interest toward conservation, with earnest coordination, constitutes the best possible, and indeed, the only means for remedying a situation which is a discredit to an enlightened people.

CONSTRUCTIVE AMERICANISM

The newspapers are full of discussions of various ideas connected with the pan of a World Court. Generally speaking, the press of Our Country is inclined to favor any international policy that is of a constructive character.

There is little disposition to condemn movements like the World Court, a Disarmament Conference, and plans for stabilizing international industrial and commercial conditions.

Few political leaders go to the extreme of advocating commercial isolation of Our Country. Press reports indicate that there is an underlying sentiment, possibly tinged with idealism, that favors our leading a hand in the economic restoration of any of the European countries.

One of the great by products of the World War is a lessening of racial prejudices and more of the helpful Big Brother feeling toward all foreign nations.

SCALE U AND SCALE DOWN

Whether it be by President Coolidge or by any other public official or agency, efforts for tax reduction will meet with popular approval.

For the tax burden is real. It bears heavily on everybody. The farmer sells his crops and in turn gives more to the tax collector than he keeps for himself.

Last year the railroads paid taxes in the amount of $340,000,000, or $30,000,000 more than was paid the stockholders.

Merchants may and usually do, add their taxes to the selling price of their goods and wares, thus passing the tax burden on to the consumer, but as taxes rise, prices soar, sales lessen and profits dwindle. The railroad like the merchant, obtains its revenue from the public, selling service instead of merchandise, hence it too passes its tax burden on to the consumer.

The tax burden cannot be shifted. Directly or indirectly, it falls on the general public. The only way to reduce it is to scale up economy and scale down extravagance.

Futuristic Trees and Houses, Animals and Sunsets. Appear on Frocks Shown at the Modern Arts Exhibit in Paris.

ONE well-dressed young American woman looked perplexed when a friend just returned from Paris asked her whether she liked the new modernistic tendency in fashions. "Oh, dear," she sighed. "I don't suppose I do. My father is too much of a fundamentalist for me to try anything of that sort."

Most of us at least know that modernistic fashions and fashion tendencies haven't anything to do with the religious modernism that interests the preachers so much at the present time. But that is about as far as we go. The idea in using this term as applied to clothes seems to have reference to the decorative work of such modern artists as have passed under the classification of futurists and cubists. They tried to get away from the conventionalized designs of the past. So in these new modernistic designs that we see on the new fabrics in the designs painted and embroidered of hats and frocks we see many geometric figures, curious assemblages of lines, angles, and circles that remind us of nothing in the decoration of the past. Sometimes there are suggestions of animals, fruit, flowers, houses and landscapes, but these, too, lack the traditions of the past.

The exhibition of modern arts now taking place in Paris has of course been exerting a tremendous effect on fashions. All or most of Paris have interesting frocks on show there. Many of these frocks make use of materials and decorations of modernistic sort. So when one speaks of the effect of the Modern Arts exhibit in Paris one usually has in the back of his head reference to this modernistic tendency.

The sketch shows a frock and scarf, both of which are decorated with modern art design. On the white silk frock it is applied in patch work style with bright bits of colored silk. The scarf is hand painted in bright, sunset colors. The scarf runs through a slit in the collar of a white coat.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

By MARY MARSHALL

A WELL KNOWN authority on nervousness points out the tremendous value of more rest.

And everybody, really everybody, can get more rest. For the authority in question does not recommend more sleep necessarily, or more time of absolute inactivity. What he so strongly insists on is more time of mental quiet.

Really, you can do much to gain this. You can, by exerting the will, simply keep your mind unoccupied for a little while each day. At first this will be difficult—this mental relaxing. But each day you will be able to hold the mind empty for a little and a little longer. You can train yourself so that on trolleys and trains you can relax in body and mind—think almost of nothing. You can train yourself so that the moment you sit down or lie down you can begin this tremendously helpful resting.

FOR BORDERED SILKS

This smart little frock may be made from 1 1/2 yards of silk, if the new 54-inch bordered crepes are used. The dress has extended shoulders and a round neck, the front being slashed and underfaced with plain silk for a bold note. If preferred, a jabot of plain Georgette crepe may be added at the side. This would make the mode appropriate for dressy occasions. As it appears, however, it is equally smart for general or sports wear.

Pictorial Review Printed Pattern No. 2581. Sizes, 16 to 20 years and 34 to 44 inches bust. Price, 45 cents.

thick there are just two club steaks. The "porterhouse steaks" lie back of the club steaks. They contain more fat and tenderness than any of the other steaks. There are four or five of the porterhouse steaks.

The "sirloin steaks" lie back of the porterhouse.

The "sirloin cuts" include two or three pin bone steaks, two flat bone steaks (the most choice cuts of the sirloin), and about three round bone steaks.

The "tenderloin" lies under the bones of the loin. It is usually included in the loin steaks but is also removed separately, and used for broiling or roasting, but is a very expensive cut.

Whipped Cream From A Can of Milk

A NEW method by which evaporated milk may be whipped stiff and used as a substitute for fresh cream has been discovered by an expert in household economics. To whip the evaporated milk, scald the contents of a can of it in a double boiler for five minutes. Cool this and put it on the ice to chill. Stir the milk both while it is scalding and while cooling it on the ice, to prevent a crust from forming. When it is thoroughly cooled whip it as you would fresh cream.

This discovery is particularly welcome at this season of the year when strawberries are with us. Berries are always delicious with whipped cream, and strawberry shortcake would scarcely be the real article without it.

For strawberry shortcake either the old fashioned shortcake may be used, or plain layer cake. Here is a recipe for the real old fashioned strawberry shortcake such as grandmother used to make.

2 cups flour
3/4 cup sugar
4 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/3 cup butter
1 egg

Mix the dry ingredients and sift twice. Work in the shortening with the tips of the fingers. Add the egg well beaten and the milk. Toss the dough on a flour board, and divide in two parts. Pat, roll out, and bake in layer cake tins in a hot oven for about 12 minutes. Split it open and spread with butter. Sweeten the berries to taste, and place on the back of the range until warmed. Crush slightly, saving a few large ones for the top of the cake. Put the crushed berries between the buttered layers, and serve with whipped evaporated milk.

Wage War On Defaulting Employers

Coincident with the arrest of C. D. Plum at Hollywood after a nation-wide search and his return to San Francisco by the San Francisco Police department, under bail of $13,000 to face four felony charges of defrauding workers of bond money, State Labor Commissioner Walter G. Mathewson has announced the inauguration of a campaign to protect the workers of the state from the operations of pseudo employers of labor who exact cash bonds from workers on the pretext of insuring protection to the supposed employer from the default of the worker. This method of defrauding laborers has grown to high proportions, according to Arthur L. Johnson, deputy labor commissioner and attorney for the labor bureau, who has been placed in charge of the campaign to put a stop to operations of this kind. "Complaint has come in to the office of the Labor Commissioner since it became publicly known that we were investigating the activities of Plum and others," Attorney Johnson stated today, "and the Commissioner's instructions to me are to secure all evidence possible against any persons engaged in this practice and to prevent such evidence to the proper district attorney for action."

"Dark Swan" Today

Scene from "THE DARK SWAN" A WARNER SCREEN "CLASSIC"

With Marie Prevost, Monte Blue and Helen Chadwick, as the trio of stars in "The Dark Swan" the Warner Bros. Classic of the screen which will be shown at the California theatre today only, there is little doubt that the picture, which is adapted from the novel by Ernest Pascal, will prove meritorious.
It is unusual for three players of such popularity to concentrate their efforts to one picture, but since the story of Mr. Pascal calls for three separate and distinct stars, each of whom plays an equally important part, Warner Bros. did not hesitate to engage this trio of luminaries, so that "The Dark Swan" could be adequately and faithfully reproduced on the silver sheet.
In addition to Marie Prevost, as

Last Chance To See "The Flapper" At The Richmond

Colleen Moore once again recalls all honors as the perfect flapper of the screen.
This time, the dainty First National star wins the jazz age sweepstakes in a photodrama entitled "The Perfect Flapper" which opened at the Richmond theatre last night. The little lady of "Flaming Youth" and "Painted People" simply "runs away" with the material given her and it is not saying too much to predict that her characterization of Tommie Lou Pember, the modern girl who wondered: "What kind of a girl the boys want me to be," as something that will go down in motion picture history with her interpretation of Pat Pentris in "Flaming Youth."
Colleen wears some smart and beautiful gowns which will delight the eye of the feminine patron, while the party scenes will offer the most blase movie-goer thrills of a new variety.
The scenes take within a mansion being moved from location are especially absorbing and show to what extent motion picture producers of today will go in order to secure realistic effects.
In "Flaming Youth" and "Lilies of the Field" John Francis Dillon gave promise of still greater things directorially. He fulfills our faith in him in "The Perfect Flapper." It has moments of magnificent drama and scenes of extraordinary depth and feeling. He seems to under-

"Why buy quality tires . . . the drivers abuse the tires anyway . . . cheap tires are good enough . . ."

Seems to us that here's where the finest and most durable equipment would be the most economical . . . and lately we've had an opportunity to prove it. We converted several fleet owners from this old notion to Diamond Heavy Service Cords . . . and they're certainly glad we did.

Wolfram Beats Cothran In Pitchers' Battle

BARREL HOUSE IS SHUT OUT BY REFINERY TEAM

STANDARD OIL LEAGUE

All Standards	W. L. Pet.
Mechanics	2 777
Barrel House	3 4 333
Refinery	3 6 333

The Refinery ball club has won another game, and full credit for the victory goes to Wolfram, who pitched a marvelous game. The walloping the Autry outfit gave to Rod Allen and his Barrel House was not very decisive, it is true, but it was a walloping just the same. Incidentally it was one of the best games of the year, with the score standing 2 to 0.

From a fans view it wasn't very good, as it was almost devoid of thrills, but from a baseball standpoint it was exceptional. All the joy the fans got came from cheering the Refinery every time a Barrelite fanned. Wolfram forced nine of these wreckers back to the bench, via the whiff line limited.

Cothran, the opposing pitcher, also did honor unto himself, but many a runner could his playmates send scurrying across the rubber. He allowed five hits, to Wolfram's four. The only error of the game was made by Taylor who let an easy one slip through his fingers and his man got safe.

The error did not hurt anything though. Zimmerman made the only pair of runs of the day. One came in the first and the other in the sixth stanza of this contest. The first time up he cracked a double and was sacrificed to third. He scored on Warren's sacrifice fly. In the sixth he singled to left, was sacrificed to second, went to third on a balk, and scored on Snaveley's sacrifice fly. This balk by Cothran marked the first one thus far this season.

Zimmerman was the only consistent hitter of the game. Out of three trips to the plate he hit three times. He got the longest hit of the day, and that was a double.

Although Taylor did wonderful work to help his playmates, he wasn't credited with a batting average for the day. He took three knocks and sacrificed every time. These were the only sacrifices of the day.

The sixth inning furnished the only semblance of a thrill. In this division the Barrel House got almost its only chance to score. Nelson popped up a high fly half way between first and home. The catcher, pitcher, and third baseman became desirous of getting a closeup of each other so they came together and nobody touched the ball. Chick hollored to let it lay in the hole it would roll out.

side the foul line but Spot Duncan became excited and grabbed the apple and let Nelson get safe. Fitzgerald—the mighty Fitz, known as the most dangerous man in the league—then strode to the platter in a manner that would make Washington cross. The Delaware ashamed of himself. He proceeded to hit into a double play, quashing all chances of a score.

Then in the second half of the same interim Zimmerman started the ball rolling with a single. Taylor came through with a sacrifice. Then Lefty Cothran pulled a boner by balking, and Zimmie went to third. Snaveley flashed out a high fly that scored him. Then Warren cracked the apple to short center. The catch rightfully belonged to Yore, but a conference of most of the outfield and a good deal of the infield was called at that point, so Warren got a hit.

Elmer Hanson, who has been playing outfield this year appeared behind the board yesterday. Although a little nervous at first, but after the game got under way a little bit he did some fine work.

Spike Elder, who officiated behind the backstop yesterday, got another hit. He got cracked by a fast one on the big toe, and was forced to call time for nursery duties.

The correct method of dusting off was demonstrated a number of times yesterday. Wolfram staged this trick by coming so close to Cothran's elbow that a cigarette paper couldn't be passed through the intervening space.

Southern Youths Come To Fore In Tournament Golf

DEL MONTE, July 22.—Young golfers are rapidly coming to the front in Southern California as they have in the past five or six years around San Francisco Bay. This was proved beyond a doubt in the annual California Junior Championship at Del Monte, July 13-16, when two Southern California lads, Norman Macbeth Jr., of Los Angeles, and Leslie Hensley, of the Long Beach Country club, met in the finals, the former winning 4 and 2.

San Francisco's leading players today are the young lads who three or four years ago were winning all Junior honors insight. Johnny McHugh, California champion in 1923, is but 21 years of age now. Babe and George Ritchie are about the same age. Lauren Upson, University of California star, is another who figures right at the top and six or eight other players from around the bay could be named.

A year ago at Del Monte little Davey Martin, of Santa Barbara and Allan Moser of Los Angeles, were among the leaders in the Junior championship, an event limited to lads who have not yet reached their sixteenth birthday. This year Moser and Martin are ranked among the first twelve or fifteen players in Southern California.

Norman Macbeth, Jr., of the Wilshire club, Los Angeles, won the Junior title at Del Monte this year. He is but fourteen years of age and yet in each round of match play was under the eighty mark at Del Monte. In the finals he shot an approximately 74 to defeat Hensley, who also was under the eighty mark throughout the entire event.

A Junior tournament in which competition is keen is a great thing for golf. The Macbeths and the Hensleys of this year will in four or five years, be winning sectional and state championships. The young players of the South are even now capable of giving their seniors all the competition they want.

Santa Maria—Contract let for construction of 55,000 feet of concrete pipe for irrigation plant on La Brea Company's farm.

SEVENTH INNING

Oakland Will Oppose Raise In Car Fares

Declaring that the city of Oakland is strongly opposed to the proposed raise in transportation rates in the Eastbay region, Leon Gray, city attorney of Oakland, addressed the Kiwanis club of Richmond at the meeting held yesterday.

A talk was also made by Wendell C. Thomas, lieutenant governor of Kiwanis district of California and Nevada and managing director of the San Jose Chamber of Commerce. Judge John Roth was awarded a radio savings bank at attendance prize.

Pleasing musical numbers were rendered by C. C. Prescott and Tom Maito of the Western Auto Supply company and Emil Esola. The musical program, which interspersed a fried chicken dinner served by Richmond clubwomen, was in charge of Ralph Gilbert, John B. Silveira was chairman of the day.

Dr. C. A. Stock will be chairman at next week's meeting, with R. L. Wharton in charge of the program.

THE ELEPHANT HAS NO JOINTS—people used to believe

THEREFORE, according to medieval gossip, he is obliged to sleep leaning against a tree. When the nocturnal hunter cuts down the tree, the sleeping elephant falls and, having no joints, is unable to rise, and is easily captured or slain.

Superstitions Don't Work Out in Practice

An entertaining superstition, but no more absurd than that "eastern" motor oils are "somehow" better merely because they cost more and are made in the east.

As a matter of fact, the most suitable crude so far discovered for the manufacture of a motor lubricant is western naphthenic base crude. And the most highly developed refining process is this Company's patented high-vacuum process, during the use of which Zerolene is submitted to 15 positive checks for quality.

Zerolene Proves Quality in Use
Zerolene challenges comparison with any oil made, whether of eastern or western origin. If you have not yet tried Zerolene—remember it is successfully lubricating every make of car in use—high priced and low—more cars in the Pacific Coast States than any other oil made!

Why pay tribute to a superstition? Insist on Zerolene. Always ask for ZEROLENE by name.

Get the Facts!
A series of independent and impartial reports showing the experience of large users with Zerolene motor oil has been collected in our booklet, "Why Pay Tribute to a Superstition?" Ask any Standard Oil Company representative or Zerolene dealer for a copy.

Insist on Zerolene—even if it does cost less

TUBERCULOSIS OVERCOME

Oakland, Calif.
April 28, 1925.
For about three years I suffered from a bad cough and sore chest. I tried many doctors, all of whom pronounced my case Tuberculosis. My appetite was examined and showed tubercular germs. As I found no improvement from any of the treatments that I took, I decided to give the FONG WAN HERB a test as a last resort. After having drunk the herbs for four months, I was a well woman and had gained in weight. A year has elapsed since I began to take the FONG WAN HERB on April 18, 1924, but today, I am still well and have no sign of my former complaints.

GAS SERVICE IS PROMISED FOR 3 BAY VILLAGES

Assurance that the Coast Counties Gas and Electric company will extend its mains to provide service to Pinole, Rodeo and Selby was given yesterday by M. W. Gahan, Contra Costa manager. Gahan announced that in order to provide adequate pressure to supply the three communities two more storage tanks of 75,000 cubic feet capacity will have to be erected in Martinez. Mains will be extended from Crockett, the most westerly service of the company now.

The three communities have been seeking for several months to have gas service provided and made a canvass of the three towns to sign pledges of patronage. The company subsequently made a survey, the results of which were given out yesterday by Gahan. Thirty-six out of 76 householders in Selby have agreed to become consumers and 80 per cent of the householders in Rodeo have signed their willingness to install gas service. Gahan declared assurance of 300 consumers in Pinole will be asked and while the number that has so far agreed to service there is somewhere below that figure there is no question but that the number asked by the company will be secured.

Residents of the three communities particularly Rodeo and Pinole, which have recently organized Chambers of Commerce, are elated at an announcement that gas service will be provided. The project was the first on a development program that the communities have outlined.

As details of construction are yet

455 Million Is Invested In Cal. Public Utilities

In a report compiled by L. S. Ready, chief engineer of the California Railroad commission, at the request of H. S. Clapp, assistant to Herbert Hoover, the report being for use at Stanford University, interesting statistics, showing the extent of the operations of the electric utilities operating in California, have been assembled. The report shows that as of December 31, 1923, there were a total of 70 electric utilities operating in California. In addition there are a number of municipally owned electric systems, but as these are not subject to the Commission's jurisdiction and do not report to the Commission, they are not included in Engineer Ready's figures, as the 12 largest electric utilities in California handle approximately 97 per cent of the electric utility business in the state, their reports to the Commission are used as the basis for the estimates made.

According to Chief Engineer Ready's figures, the approximate rate base, in 1922, for the 12 largest utilities totaled $334,000,000; in 1923, $374,000,000; and in 1924, $445,000,000. The total rate base for all utilities, engaged in the electric business for the same years was respectively, $343,000,000, $384,000,000, and $455,000,000.

COMMITTED TO NAPA

Mrs. Matilde Ghusti of Richmond brought here for observation several days ago was examined for insanity at the detention home yesterday afternoon and ordered committed to the Napa state hospital.

It was arranged it cannot be stated definitely now when work on extension of mains will be started.

Buick Official Tells of Progress In Motor Industry

"Progress obtained by work of the hardest kind has brought the automotive industry within a quarter of a century from virtually nothing to the commanding place in the industrial life of our country. Now that first place has been attained, there should be no tendency to sit back satisfied. This attitude must not be assumed if the industry is to retain its leading position. Says H. H. Bassett, president of the Buick Motor Co.

"The commercial history of this country is replete with instances of manufacturers who felt that they had arrived and could rest content only later to be rudely awakened by some young, vigorous rival who recognized the principle that to succeed you must progress. Every year for two decades the leading automobile manufacturers have brought out what they honestly believed was the best car in its price class, and felt that it could not be excelled. Yet within twelve months their own engineers have proved that the product could be improved. And so it has gone on, each year seeing better automobiles and so it will continue as long as it is possible to make improvements.

"Years ago the Buick Motor took for its slogan, 'When Better Automobiles are Built, Buick will Build Them.' This was not selected as a vainglorious boast; but was predicated on the well defined policy that Buick intends bettering its product by the adoption of such improvements as continuous experience may develop.

"Maybe the perfect automobile is yet to be built. No one can say how close or how far we are from that coveted result. Extensive research will reveal this and this fact is recognized by the most progressive manufacturers who are constantly striving to make a better car.

"This has been the policy of the Buick Motor Company and it will continue as such. The large engineering and research staffs of the Buick Company constantly working to create better Buicks, and as they progress better Buicks will be built.

"It is a good thing for the industry as a whole that there is a tendency to discard the habit of making changes merely for the sake of having a change. But this extreme tendency to the curtailment of real improvements from year to year would mean but one thing ultimately—that the automotive industry would start slipping backward, for it is a truism that nothing stands still, we must continue to go forward or go backward.

Oil Fraud Net May Involve Other People

man for another automobile concern. Both said they had invested large amounts of their savings in large stock. In addition to this, Kenevy said he had taken orders for 14 automobiles of expensive make from other victims. He said they had expected to pay for the cars out of the profits promised them by Gough and his associates. These cars, he said, were now on their way here with no likelihood that they would ever be paid for.

Additional information received daily by the State Corporation department indicates that the swindling operations of the so-called Golett Oil company, which has been termed "The Billion Dollar Oil Bubble," is rapidly developing into what promises to be one of the biggest sensations in alleged swindling operations in recent years in the West, according to announcement by the State Corporation department today.

Investigators of the State Corporation department have information that while the center of operations was at Oakland, sales were made in practically every section of the State of California and that they extended into Nevada and possibly Oregon and Arizona. Following a hurried probe in Los Angeles, and investigator for the department was ordered to San Diego where, according to reports, a number of persons had relinquished various sums upon representations that they would share in the purported merger of big oil companies. These reports placed the total of San Diego investments at approximately $12,000, and it is the belief expressed by authorities that this figure will grow as the investigation proceeds.

Following the close of the inquiry in San Diego, the investigation again will be taken up in Los Angeles where it was predicted information of a startling nature will be disclosed. It is expected the disclosure will involve other persons besides those already named in earlier news reports from San Francisco and Sacramento. Reports were received from Reno, Nevada, today that a number of persons in that city had invested in the so-called merger and are making plans to bring their cases to the attention of the authorities and also seeking means to recover their money.

It also is announced that the operations of the nine persons who have been arrested on complaints in Oakland are being carefully watched by the Federal authorities for the purpose of determining if there has been a violation of the Federal laws, particularly with reference to the use of the mails. In this connection a careful check is being made of lists of alleged victims. Among those who were arrested in Oakland are E. F. Reeves, F. P. Davis, C. E. Peacock, W. R. Sherman and W. R. Moody. Mrs. Reeves also is being detained.

Chief Field Deputy E. F. Dishman working under instructions from Commissioner of Corporations, Edwin M. Daugherty, has returned to the northern part of the state from San Diego and Los Angeles and is directing further investigations of the activities of the Golett Oil company. He announced today that he believes a trace will be found of the leader of this organization before the investigation is closed in Southern California.

Persons who contributed their money have told the authorities they were induced to invest upon representations that a merger of the General Petroleum, Union Oil, Sinclair and nearly a score of other big oil companies would shortly take place under the name Golett Oil company and that the merger plans called for a capitalization of $800,000,000. Officials of the oil companies mentioned in the scheme declared the stories told to the victims were the purest of "bunk."

Commissioner of Corporations Daugherty has directed that the investigations by the department be continued until every phase of the alleged swindle has been cleared. The Commissioner has information that the victims of the Golett Oil company include not only professional and business men but working people and aged women. In several instances every last dollar of the life savings of the investors was taken.

New Provisions "Blue Sky" Law Effective 24th

SACRAMENTO, July 22.—Enacted for the purpose of strengthening in some instances, clarifying others, amendments to California's Corporate Securities Act, known as the "Blue Sky" law, will become effective July 24. As a result of these amendments the law will be more workable, according to Edwin M. Daugherty, State Corporation Commissioner. The changes which were approved by the last Legislature and later approved by Governor Friend W. Richardson, are not radical, he added. However, he suggested that they be studied carefully by brokers, attorneys, corporation officers and stock salesmen in order that there shall be a maximum of cooperation in the administration of the law as it has been changed.

The first change in the law is in Section 2 defining a security. The change enlarges this definition for the purpose of a company in the sale of instruments evidencing any right to participate in oil, gas or other hydrocarbon substances. The definition of security for the purposes of individual is also broadened to include the sale of an instrument evidencing any right to participate or share in the profits of a business carried on for profit. The definition of a "sale" is also modified to require a company to secure a permit before exchanging stock for stock of a different class or preferred stock for other preferred stock with different preferences. The words "actual fraud" are changed to read "fraud." This change being made all through the act. The effect of this change is to include constructive as well as actual fraud.

Section 4 of the law is changed to specifically authorize the Commissioner to include in permits escrow, impounding, selling expense and other conditions regarded as necessary and advisable to insure the proper disposition of proceeds from the sale of securities. The Commissioner's power to do these things was not contested under the old act, but his authority is more specific under the changes. Under the amendment to this section he is also given power to establish rules and regulations for carrying out the provisions of the act.
